RHOREA

Great Bend High School
Great Bend, Kansas
Volume 54, 1973

This is the 1973 Rhorea. It is a simple book, divided into two parts. The first half is the story of the year, arranged by months. The second half contains records, organizations, and individual pictures.

We have tried to record the experiences and realities of the year. It is up to you to supply the memories.

..Now, before we go any further, we might as well make a few things clear. This is the first time we ever did anything like this yearbook and we don't have the faintest idea of how to do it. (This is about the ninth time this copy was written and we still don't know if it's right.) We're trying, anyway.

..You probably bought this yearbook at the first of the year without knowing what it would be like. You assumed it would be like any other, right? You've gone through and glanced at the pictures and now you're glancing at the copy to see if it's any good. You probably expect it to relate to the pictures of enrollment and the beginning of school. Well, maybe it will and maybe it won't. See? This yearbook doesn't quite fit the stereotype, does it?

..We decided that the traditional yearbook copy wasn't serving any purpose. It was a pain to write and nobody ever read it anyway. Some people are making yearbooks without any copy, but that's too easy.

School involvement begins

The student body waits with anticipation for the first school pep assembly.

Guidance Counselors Mr. Calvin Winter and Mr. Dale Carpenter begin their hectic year helping at enrollment.

Juniors Mary Esfeld, Rhonna Calcara, Angela Rexwinkle, and Barbara Wondra enjoy extra minutes of conversation between classes.

After an empty summer, the parking lot was once again crowded.

Fifth Hour brings the lunch line crowd, anxious to be served.

Many after school moments were spent by Harald in the music room playing the piano.

Harald enjoys a moment of solitude at the language club picnic held in his honor.

Mrs. Phyllis Harrison demonstrates expert typing techniques.

Mrs. P. K. Duncan explains Spanish customs to her Spanish class.

Mr. Jim Orth attentively listens to a student opinion in American History class.

with meeting new personalities

. . Do you remember the first of the year? Long time ago, wasn't it? Remember how it took a week or so for you to realize who the AFS student was? (And when you thought you had him spotted, PANTHER TALES mixed the pictures up and told you Harald Velsand was Nate Fors.)

. . Harald was a lot more concerned with world peace and understanding than most of us.

. . And there were more new faces. . . lots of them for all of us. New teachers, new students. . . familiar faces with a new look. Little things may change like style of clothes or length of eyelashes (isn't technology wonderful?), but people stay pretty much the same underneath. When your parents were kids they did pretty much the same asinine things we do now. Teenagers just seem to be naturally crazy, rushing around trying to get started being adults and having a good time doing it.

. . Some spent their September afternoons sweating through strenuous football practices. Sore muscles and bruised bodies was the price paid for the best season since '63. Making a hard clean tackle or a well-placed block; scrambling for a fumble and getting it; walking right over the defense: these are the joys of a football player.

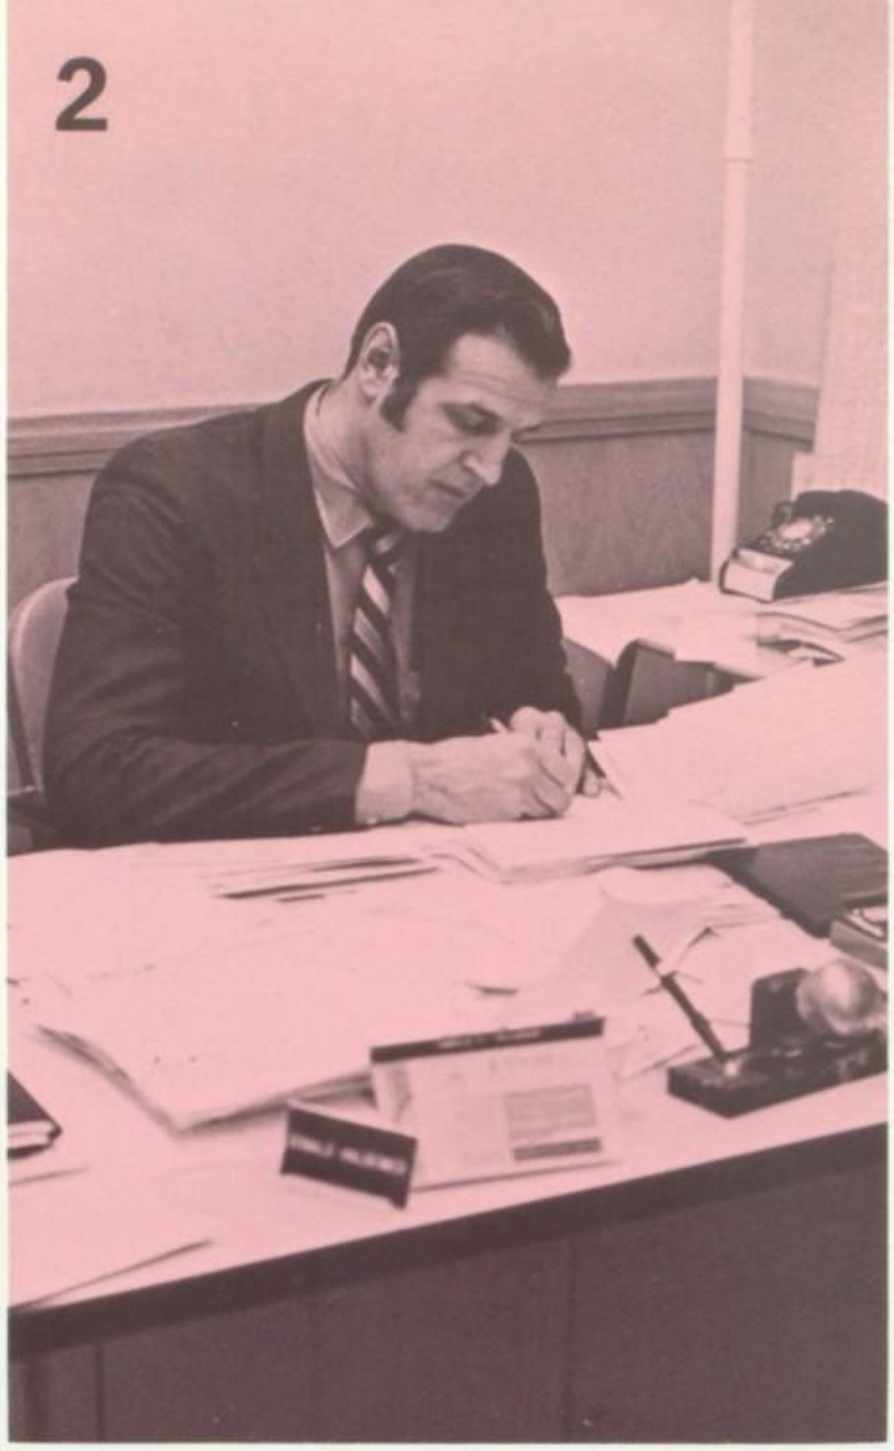
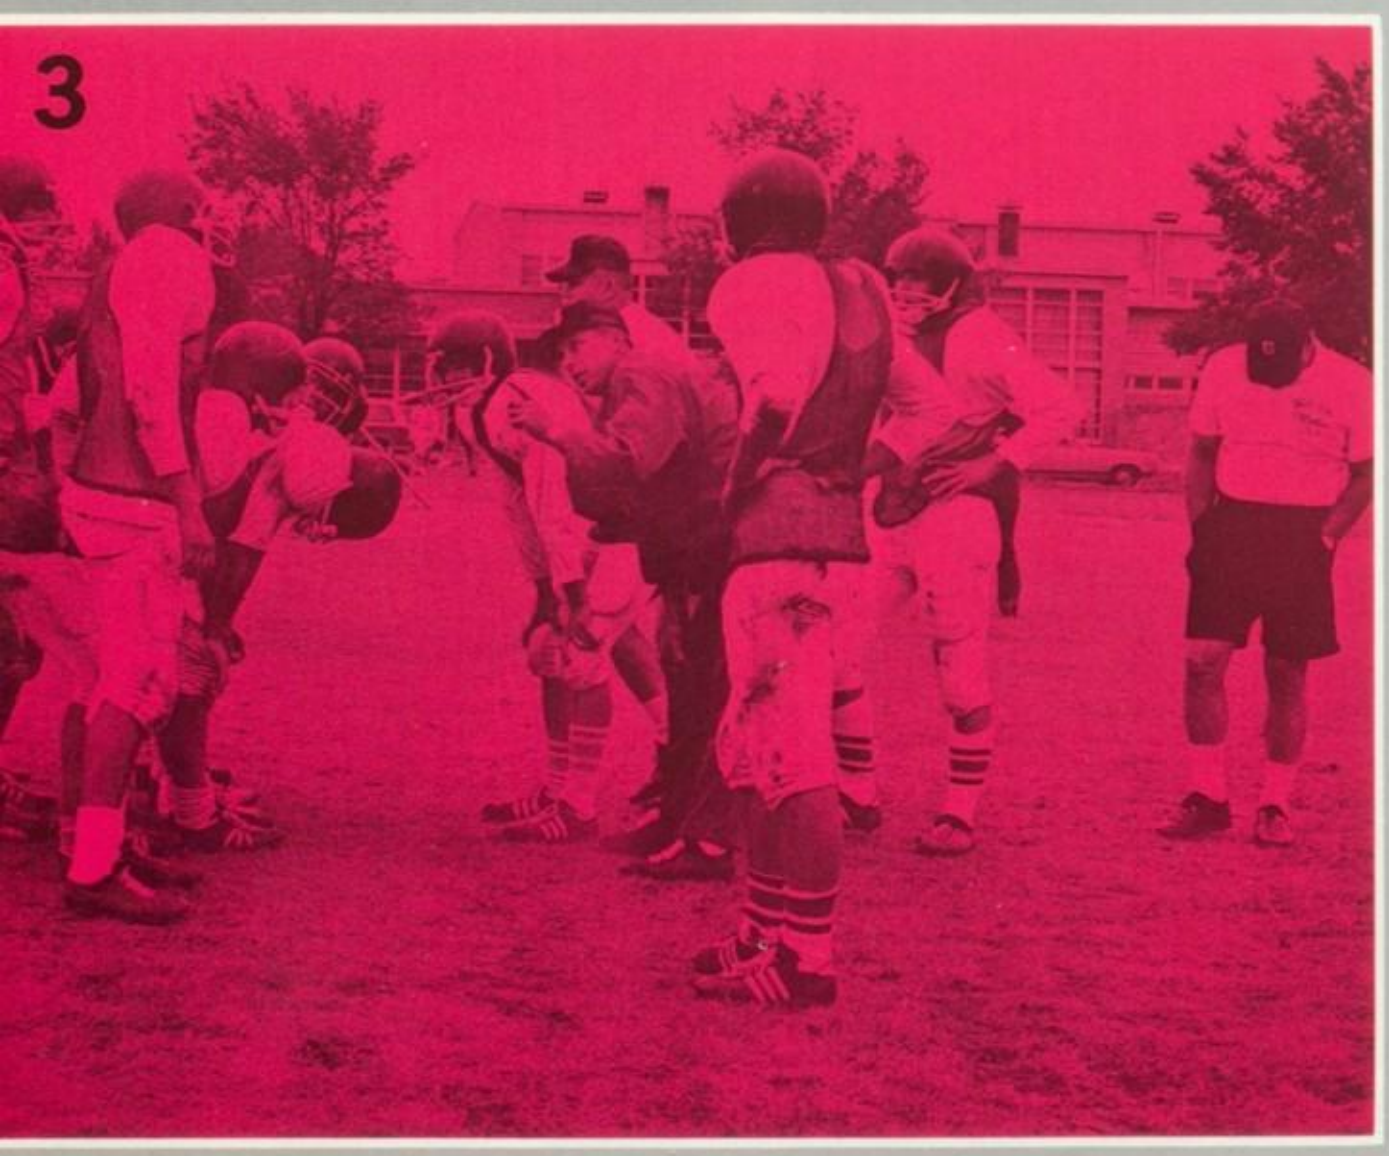
. . But for some, football wasn't worth the price of a haircut. And for others, a beer or two was more important than staying in shape. Football took a lot of time, time that could be used to get a job, make some money, not have to put out so much effort. Football takes up goofing-off time. Besides, some claim now that athletics aren't as character-building as was once thought.





Activities vary after school's out

Brad Mohr washes windshields, only one of his duties as service station attendant.

Principal Don Halbower continues working at the close of the day to put the pieces back together.

Finishing studies after school are Beth Atzenhoffer, Gina Henjy, and Debbie Boyer.

With the 3:08 dismisal bell, students willingly leave for home.

Ellen Komarek practices her service for the coming tennis season.

As the September nights grew longer and October's chill approached, there were times when you had to be alone. Oh, it was easy and fun to be part of a crowd, to lose yourself and take up the character of the group. But in your solitude all sorts of uneasy thoughts kept popping up. . . college, tests, parents, money, jobs, sex, morality. . . .

"How am I going to get out of this mess? What if my dad finds out?"

"What if her dad finds out?". . .so many things, so many thoughts. . .

"Is there really a god?"

And all these questions needed answers of some sort, but we weren't often alone on September nights, so September's thoughts flashed quickly by as we were caught in the swirl of fall activities.

People. That's what makes a high school. People.

You can build a nice building and put a sign on it that says "High School," but you need more than that. Fill it with people and lock them in somehow, and you will have a high school.

People. . .all forced to work together in the same building. . .they come in all sizes and shapes and colors, each with his own name, each with his own feelings.

People smile and laugh. They frown and shout. They run and jump. Sometimes they stumble. Most of

They think, sometimes. They ponder and worry and frown and laugh and cry and work and dream and eat and sleep and drink and work and dream and eat and. . .

Why do they do all these things? Because of people. Because of what other people do to them or for them. Because of what they do themselves.

And what did you do for people during that October?

TINKERTOY

Who ever heard of a high school without students? What were there, 1200 of us? Well not quite, it seems as if 1170 was the official count. It's amazing how well we got along. (Thank God for pacifists and tolerant people. Too bad we don't have more of them.)

After receiving the first 6-weeks grades, students had a good idea of how the year would go. . . "if I would have got less than a 'B' in physics, I would have dropped it. . " "I felt like I got more than I deserved". . .

Parents reacted in different ways. Some were happy. Others irate. Some didn't believe and some didn't care. And that hurt.

Final schedule changes were made and people settled into the old routine. Old skills were relearned and new ones were beginning to take shape. Busy, busy, busy. 1200 people can find 1200 different ways to spend their time. And somehow, it all got together in one school year.

...in and out of classrooms

Polishing up her techniques Senior Jill Miller readies herself for another debate tournament.

One of the advantages of being a D.E. student is making money during school hours as shown by Cecilia Laird, employee at Gibson's.

ACT tests brought students from the surrounding area together at GBHS, the local testing center.

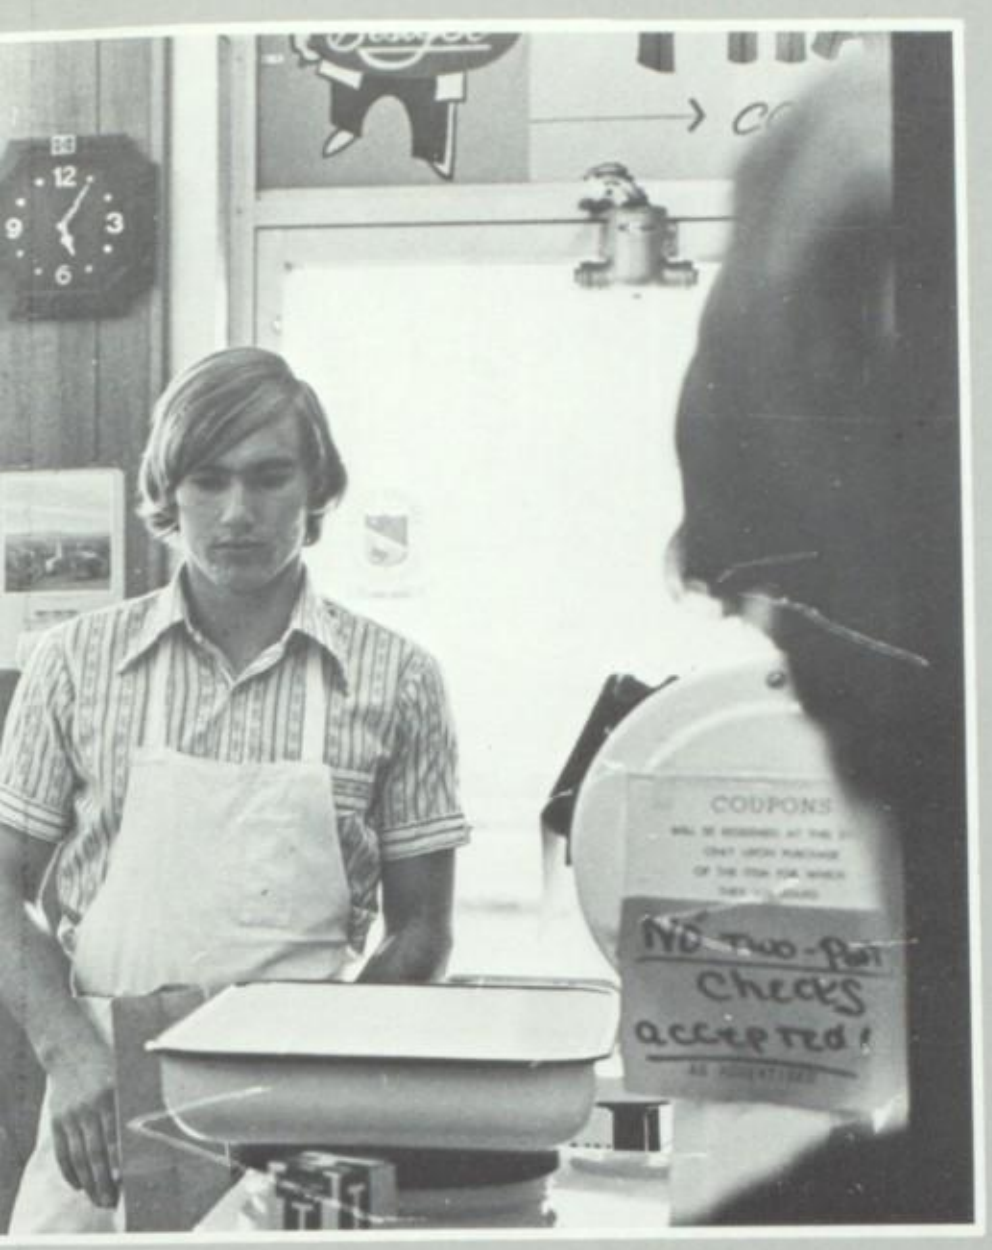
Getting in shape for the upcoming season Randy Wetzel, Brad Mohr and Larry White practice basketball in the gym.



8:30 to 3:08. That 6 hours and 38 minutes can get to seem like a long time. For most of us, it got to be unbearably long. There were times when you wanted to throw your books at the teacher and LEAVE. But you didn't.

You settled for throwing your books inside your locker and kicking it shut. "I don't care if I flunk that test tomorrow! I'm not taking my book home!" And that was that.

Sometimes you found something worthwhile to do instead of homework, and sometimes you didn't. Different people considered different things worthwhile.

Do you consider reading this worthwhile? We've spent a lot of time on it and if you don't like it. . .Well, it'll just break our hearts, you know?

Fall is the time of finality. As winter approached, people, especially seniors, realized some deeply moving things.

The ceremony honoring Mr. Swartz. . .23 years as superintendent. . .23 years. . .you know he was choked up. . .lots of us were too.

The last football homecoming. . .the last time you got to stand around waiting for the band. . .

The last football game. . .the last time you got to jump and cheer for YOUR team. . . the last game you'll go to and know all the guys on the team. . .the last game.

The last time you'd do these things and be a part of them. . . the last time you'd do these things with people you've known since kindergarten.

"On a fall Friday night when we've just won a game and everyones' acting kind of crazy. . .well, I just can't picture any of us getting old. . . "

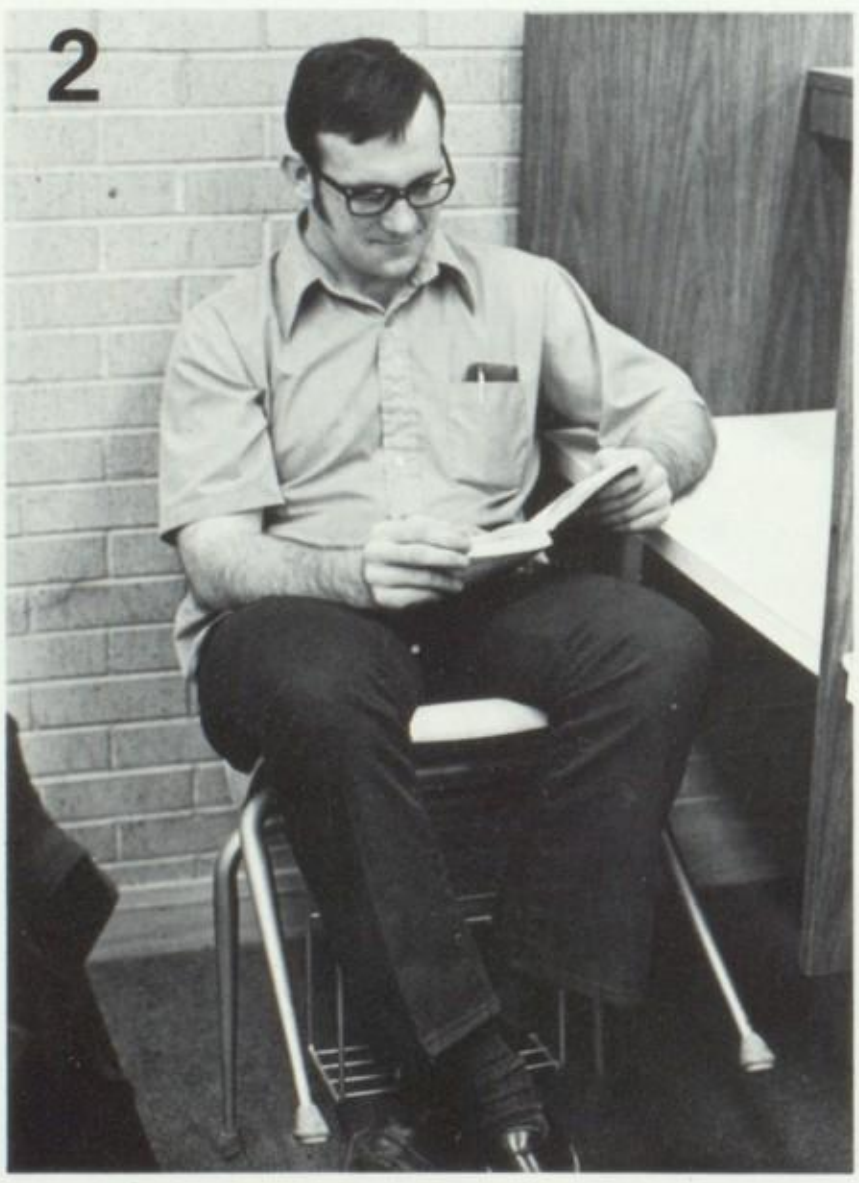
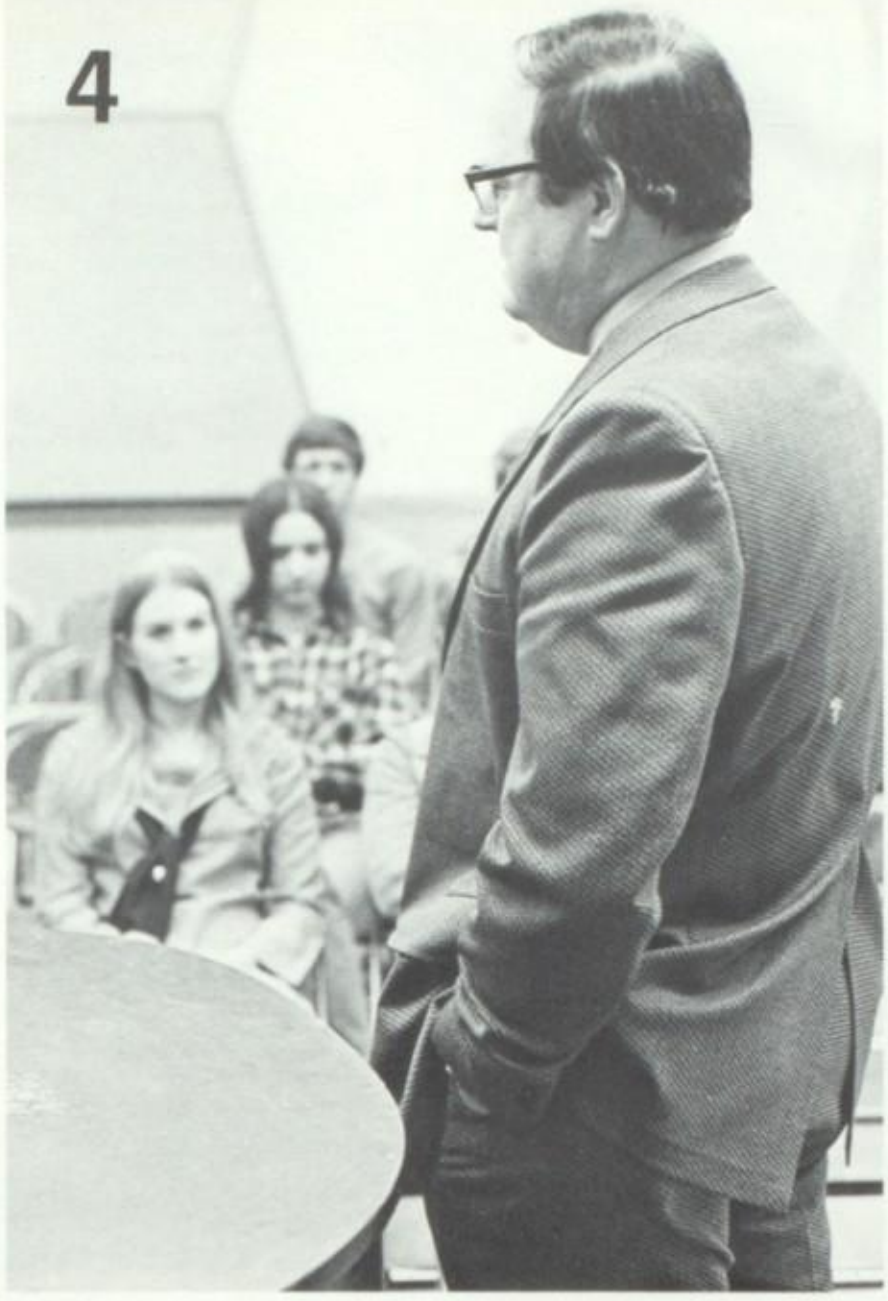
Students got involved in school





November came, cold, grey and wet. A strange mood, inspired perhaps by the cloudy days, settled over much of the student body. We had an all-school awards assembly to recognize outstanding students. A nationally ranked debate squad, WCKL champion girl's tennis team, WCKL co-champion football team.

Did the student body care? Not much, if at all. Why? Were they questioning the relevance of it all? Did they have other priorities? Or was it the same attitude they had towards the recent elections: "Nixon or McGovern? I wouldn't trust either one of them to deliver my mail. What difference does all that make to me?"

For some, being located near two large game preserves was all-important. Getting up early . . . oh, so early! Stumbling around in the dark and trying to sound like ducks.

Did you notice the mangled ducks on the school grounds? They were there.

In the drama of life, November is when they change the scenery without bringing down the curtain. Preparation for the next act goes on in front of everyone.

The brilliant autumn colors soon fade into drab browns and greys.

The old year is dying. The work of summer is finished and winter's stillness has yet to come.

While the stage was changing, students were making plans. Some were involved in wrestling, gymnastics and basketball. RHOREA failed to meet its second deadline. The newspaper staff struggled to keep from falling apart, but the debaters rededicated themselves to winning. Others found activities that took little effort and got little accomplished.

Senior Lois Swartz and Juniors Jane Replogle, Cathy Reiser and Brenda Ming leave the halls of G.B.H.S. to go their own ways.

Junior Craig Fabin and Mr. Emerson MacDonald clear the set after a rewarding Junior Class Play.

Senior Steve Hilton and Coach Charliey Gowdy demonstrate to potential state champions one of the various maneuvers involved in wrestling.

The class of '74 illustrated their individuality by selecting a unique class ring which will be held dear forever.

Thanksgiving still meant turkey for most students and for the Dolezal family it was everyone around the table as mother carved the bird.

Death took a Holiday Nov. 20-21

David Halbower, John Boyd, Nathan Studtmann, Carmen Lloyd, Janet Goodwin, Shelley Turner and Sandy Koenig console Phyllis Hackerott during rehearsel.

Mr. Emerson MacDonald performs one of his various duties as director in teaching Brit McPherson how to walk like an old man.

Angela Rexwinkle applies makeup to Sandy Koenig as Carmen Lloyd gets finishing touches minutes before curtain time.

Danny Oliver, playing the part of Death, meets Shelley Turner for the first time as Nathan Studtmann looks on.

Shelley Turner, John Boyd, and Nathan Studtmann were required to play the parts of the typical English family.

Carmen Lloyd reassures John Boyd after the loss of his love.

The traditional Junior Class Play gave the class of '74 a chance to prove their crowd-pleasing skills. Attendance the first night was acceptable, the second night . . . well, one out of two isn't bad.

But they were up against some pretty stiff competition. '73 may well be remembered as the year that color television secured its strangle-hold on the nation. Soap operas, game shows, cartoons, crime dramas, situation comedies, talk shows, sports events, movies, re-runs; take your choice. Americans spent so much time in front of the boob tube. Some claimed we were all being controlled by the networks, except teenagers really weren't home long enough to lose themselves in T.V. make-believe. We really didn't do much that was meaningful. It was simply any excuse we could find to get out of the house.

And so November came to a close. The trees had lost their leaves and there was no snow to hide their nakedness. It was too cold to be outside without a coat, not cold enough to stay home; too cold to sit in the car, not cold enough to leave it running. So we moved inside and made plans.

Snow earlier in the month made some think of sledding, ice skating and snowball fights. Christmas lights going up around town reminded us of the holidays to come, presents to buy and wrap. Grade cards came out for the second time.

We tried to forget school. The same classes, the same faces, the same old routine. It was getting boring. And so we moved into December.

A wide choice of activities existed

Mr. John Badwey, Great Bend Tribune Sports Editor, gives his opinion of the 1972-73 Panther Basketball team to head coach Mr. Don Duncan.

Members of the gymnastics team spend long and hard hours of practice perfecting their skills. Diane Adams performs one of the numerous tricks at the first meet of the year against Nickerson.

Sophomore Kenneth Shaffer prepares to indulge himself in a mountain of food at the Fall Sports Banquet honoring football, girls tennis, and cross country.

Varsity basketball players Todd Milier, Randy Wetzel and Monty Hobbs prepare themselves for the upcoming Salina Central game.

The Madrigal-Pops Choir perform at the annual Fall Concert.

Senior Lisa Friedeman and Mr. Randy St. Clair from Kansas Wesleyan University of Salina discuss points of interest at the annual College Night.

Holidays were fast approaching

December. What a way to top off the year. But at first it didn't seem that much different. Things went on in much the same way. Simply turning a leaf on a calendar shouldn't affect our lives to a great degree. But somehow it did.

We were suddenly in the last month of the year. Oh, we'd expected it would happen sooner or later but there we were, in December, sure as the world.

Christmas was suddenly only weeks away. Last year, you'd put off shopping until the last minute. This year, things would be different. So you gave it some thought, looked through catalogs and stores. But just because Christmas was coming didn't mean you could forget other obligations. School was going on the same as usual. Somehow, you had to find room in an already busy schedule for those special December activities.

. . . like putting up the traditional Christmas lights. Did you notice how many people had ladders out the first nice weekend in December? Or did they put them up back around Thanksgiving, when the city decorations went up?

Aren't Christmas decorations wonderful? The aluminum Christmas trees, tissue paper Santas, plastic wreathes, papier mache angels and, of course, the multi megawatt lights. All kinds of lights; inside, outside of houses and all over the courthouse square. Some people were so taken by the spirit of it all, they stole the lightbulbs and smashed them in the street.

Even if it wasn't really cold yet, it was definitely winter. Moist snow soon turned into a sloppy mess, catching many people in odd places at odd times. But we just went on learning.

Jumper cables go negative to negative, positive to positive . . . Vibram soles give good traction in the snow . . . you stop faster and safer if you pump your brakes . . . if your hands get warm too fast after being very cold, they'll hurt like hell for a long time.

Of course, there were things happening on a bigger scale. The last Apollo moon rocket created minor interest. There was a threat of a serious power shortage throughout the country and Life died. But high school students were interested in other things.

After some complications, the intramural basketball program began running smoothly. The newly-formed Chess Club soon gained a considerable membership and organized a school-wide tournament.

As the holidays drew nearer, their influence was felt more and more strongly. Hordes of GBHS alumni returned to haunt the halls. They were everywhere, trying to act superior. They found some things changed. The girl who had promised to be true was dating somebody else. The old hang-outs had been taken over by a different group. And there were new places to go.

Besides the hassle of shopping put off too long, Seniors had to think about scholarships and college applications.

But at the end of the month . . . oh, yes, it's that long vacation that makes December. You'd been waiting for it for a long time and you weren't going to let anything spoil it.

With the pressure off, it was easier to feel the Christmas spirit you'd been hearing about. It was nice to know a little peace and renew old acquaintances.

Remember the long hours in the car, visiting distant relatives you hadn't seen since last Christmas? Or sharing your room with your cousin from Iowa who snores?

Did your little brother want to open all the packages three days before Christmas?

was a busy month

Didn't you get a little fed up with it all? Did you find yourself sitting in piles of torn wrapping paper with a quiet feeling of despair at the way you celebrate Christmas?

Didn't Christmas seem ridiculously overdone? With the Arabs and Israelis, Catholics and Protestants, blacks and whites, North and South Vietnamese . . . With conflict and strife so universal, could it be that when something good happens, we get carried away and spoil it, too?

In the midst of the festivities, we managed to forget that gluttony is one of the Seven Deadly Sins. We gorged ourselves on the holiday food till we groaned. Eyes bulging from our intemperance, we sat down to watch football on TV. It's hard to move after eating that much. But the ultimate in over-indulgence was yet to come.

After all, this was your last chance to celebrate in 1972. You couldn't let it go by without at least a little merrymaking.

New Year's Eve. You'd probably been more drunk or high or whatever sometime in that year but that wasn't really what it was all about. New Year's Eve is special because . . . well, because it's New Year's Eve. Because all over the world, millions (yes, millions) of people are celebrating the same thing.

Did you ever stop long enough to think about what you were doing? Did you ask yourself why? What did you have to show for it? What did you prove?

After vacation, we start anew

January 2. Even if it was Tuesday, it was more like the worst possible Monday. After doing their best for more than a week to forget about school, it was just too much to ask them to get back into the routine in one day.

Restless, resigned, withdrawn: only on the last day of school would there be more glancing at the clock.

Looking like they woke up fifteen minutes ago and acting like they were still asleep, students drug themselves from class to class. The eternal, infernal apathy that is always a part of high school life was suddenly the whole.

But in two or three days, everyone had recovered and we were back in our ruts. New Year's resolutions were forgotten or dismissed as inconvenient.

London flu, which had been sweeping the country, began to make itself felt. Many students missed school because of it. Some came to school anyway, feeling rundown, coughing. One way or another, it affected us all.

The weather got colder, the coldest so far: temperatures in the 20's, frequent snow. An ice storm in the eastern part of the state left many homes without electricity. Denver schools were closed for lack of natural gas. Some people were hoping for a nationwide power shortage that would leave vast areas without the luxuries we now take for granted.

But the crisis passed. On the 13th the cold spell broke. The old mercury soared to what? 60? 70? It got warm enough that you didn't need a coat. People made use of their convertibles again. It lasted about a week.

The weather turned wet and the parking lot turned into a swamp.

But it didn't seem to affect the study body. The school year was half over. Schedules had to be changed, shuffled, or adjusted.

Bits and pieces of tunes from the musical "Fiddler on the Roof" were in many peoples minds and on their

About the middle of the month, there was a flurry of important events. Nixon was inaugurated with much pomp and ceremony in Washington. Lyndon Johnson died of a heart attack. But come February, things were back to their normal pace. After all, if every week were as momentous as that particular one, why, we'd have trouble keeping up with it all. Lots of us had trouble keeping up with the world anyway. All kinds of things were happening and everyday something new had to be learned, yet it seemed as if all we could do was keep abreast of what was going on in our immediate surroundings.

The second batch of student teachers visited the school early in the month, watching for two days the classes they would be teaching in six weeks.

The first weekend in February was a good one for music lovers.

"Due to circumstances beyond our control, the Red Dogs will not be playing for Snowball. The replacement band will be Morning Star."

"Grand Funk in Wichita? Sure I'd like to go."

"Can I borrow your ID? I want to see White Clover at the Opera House."

But there were those who had a different outlook.

"Pay some capitalist to rip me off in the name of music? Not on your life."

Maybe it was because people were getting bored or maybe they were just getting to know themselves and one another; whatever the reason, there seemed to be more couples in the halls. It seems like every year, we go through the same cycle.

When school starts, there are a few going together, a continuation of a "timeless romance" or more common, somebody getting a head start on the competition. Sometimes it lasts, but not usually.

In general, students are of three types: those going steady, those dating but no one in particular, and those who rarely date. After the flurry at the first of the year, everyone settles into a category without much fuss. And the category you fit as a sophomore stayed with many throughout high school.

The first semester passed with most of the student body realizing the role they were to play and giving little thought to the ritual and ceremony of going steady. But somewhere (February 14?), they got tired of watching and decided to play the game themselves.

Sophomores, both eager and afraid to exercise their freedom, seem to have the frequent, short, dating relationships. Juniors, now self-assured, got into something more lasting while Seniors (perhaps disdainful of it all) held out longest. relief to see things starting to show some life. About the first to brave the perils of exposure were the tulips. Once tulips came up in late March, you knew it wouldn't be long until everything turned green again. Sure enough, plants were soon exploding with new life.

The birds were coming back. There was something about seeing the first robin in spring. You remembered the pictures you drew in grade school and the hours looking at those stupid little books about spring and robins and eating worms. Rain always seems to inspire strange moods in people. With the end of the year drawing near, there was plenty to think about. Towards the last of April or first of May, the redbuds on Broadway opened up. That was truly an impressive sight. Now, summer was just around the corner. School work was all but forgotten. With such beautiful weather, it seemed an inhuman injustice to keep us in school. So we retaliated by day-dreaming and paying little attention.

It was finally warm enough to wear shorts, kick off your shoes or go without a shirt. You could wash your car without freezing your hands. Slowly, the sandpit

But once you could get out of the cramped atmosphere of the school, you needed to do some thinking. The philosophies and principles by which you would live your life were being decided.

MAY

If a lifetime could be condensed into one year with birth in January, we would now be in March with all of its storm and bluster. There is still turmoil ahead of us before we get into the long hot summer of middle age.

We can't see the autumn of our lives yet. As the spring of life is crucial to the summer, so is the summer to the harvest months. (And we refuse to think of the winter that is to follow.)

So we prepared for summer in a haphazard way, not doing the best that could be hoped for but as well as expected. School kept dragging on.

But it would soon be over. After the seniors left, drunk with jubilation, (helped by 3-point?) things got quiet until May 30, a week later, when everyone else got drunk.

Statistics show reasons for a successful year

The 1972 football season looked encouraging as the players prepared for their season opener on September 8th. After leading most of the game the Panthers fell to the Redskins of Liberal 9-7. Shaking off their defeat, the team combined their strong offense with an equally strong defense to beat Hays, Pratt, Thomas More Prep, and Garden City. Great Bend also defeated Salina Central and Russell before losing a heartbreaker to Dodge City 6-0. Determined to get a share of the league championship, the Panthers won 9-0 over the Larned Indians. The Panthers finished with a 5-1 league record to tie with Dodge City for first place in the WCKL, and a 7-2 overall record.

The Great Bend offense gained 1774 yards rushing and 598 yards passing to get 2372 total yards, with an average of 4.7 yards a play and 192 points scored. The defensive squad was just as impressive as they held the opponents to 1458 total yards, for a 3.3 yard average and 53 points scored. Paul Margheim was selected for the third team all-state by the Topeka Capitol and second team all-state by the Wichita Eagle. Marcus Greene was the leading Panther rusher with 738 yards followed by Ed Condit with 629 yards. Tim Foster led the defense with 239 defensive points followed by James Emerson getting 178 defensive points.

The Junior Varsity, with two of their games cancelled, finished with a 2-0 record. Their offense scored 88 points while the defense held the opponents to 12 points. The impressive sophomore team finished with a 5-2 record of the season. They had a total offense of 2129 yards while the defense held the opponents to 1569 yards.

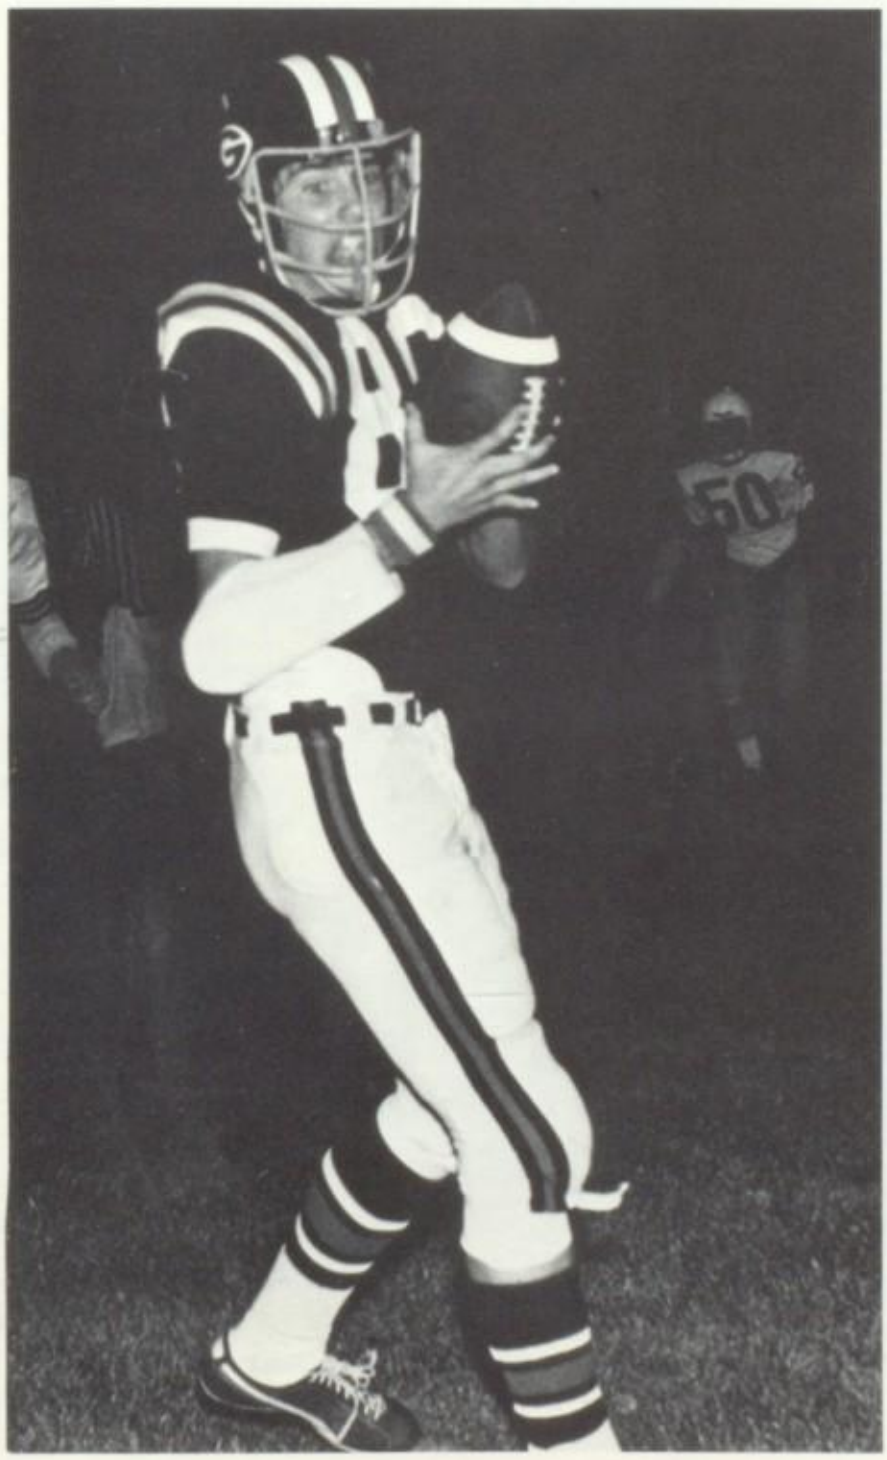
The Great Bend offensive linemen prepare to go on the attack against the defense of Hays. The Panther linemen cleared the way for the Great Bend back field as the offense gained 2372 total yards with an average of 4.7 yards a play.



Tight end Scott Ochs increases the Great Bend Lead by six points as he wraps his hands around a touchdown pass in the game with Hays High. After a slow start, the Panthers had an easy go of it as they defeated the Indians 41-0.

Head coach Sherm Price watches the action on the field as he discusses his ideas with another coach through the help of the headphones. In only his second year of coaching at GBHS, Coach Price led the football team to a share in the WCKL championship.

Girls' Tennis wins league again

The GBHS varsity Girls' Tennis team, coached by Nancy Carleton, captured the WCKL championship for the second year in a row. The team, which was strengthened by four girls who had lettered last year, finished with a 5-0 league record. Besides these dual meets, Great Bend tied for first place in the Buhler Invitational Tournament and finished in fourth place out of sixteen schools in the Hutchinson Invitational Tournament.

In the WCKL championship tournament at Dodge City, the team finished first with fourteen points ahead of Hays with six points, Larned with five points, and Dodge City with three points. Mary Polzin won first in singles, Bonnie Laughlin placed second in singles, Ellen Komarek and Dana Christiansen placed third in doubles, and Debbie Hemphill and Karen Whith finished fourth in doubles.

In the regional tournament hosted by Great Bend, Mary Lou Polzin took first in singles and Bonnie Laughlin who finished third in singles. Mary Polzin captured third place in the state tournament.

Cross Country returns to GBHS

Cross Country returned as a competitive sport to GBHS this year after missing last year. Enthusiasm was high as eight young men, coached by Mr. Jim Orth, were ready to participate for Great Bend for their first year.

The Panther runners prepared for their meets as the practice sessions consisted of running out to Bissell Point and back or to various other places of equal distance.

The runners as a team finished in last place in all of their meets except Russell, Hays, and the league meet at Dodge City. At Russell they placed 12th out of 17 teams, at Hays they placed 12th out of 18 teams, and at the league meet they placed 5th out of 6 teams. On individual scoring, the highest finish of each runner was 12th place for Rod Gibson at the league meet, 20th place for Bill Bear at Garden City, 32nd for Todd Miller at Salina, 22nd for Eric Smith at Garden City, 27th for Mark Esfeld at Salina, 26th for Rich Danek at Garden City, 32nd for Larry Partridge at Dodge City and 39th at the league meet for Gary Lucas.

The Great Bend Cross Country of 1972 gathers beside the van before departing for an out-of-town meet. (Standing) Coach Jim Orth, Todd Miller, Mark Esfeld, Rodney Gibson, and Gary Lucas. (Kneeling) Eric Smith, Bill Bear, Richard Danek, and Larry Partridge.

Head coach Don Duncan and assistant Jim Orth concluded their first year at Great Bend with a 14-7 overall and an 8-4 league record. Head football coach Sherm Price also acted as an assistant.

The four league losses came from two teams, Larned and Dodge City.

Perhaps the most exciting game for the 72-73 basketball season would have to be the non-league contest against McPherson, ranked No. 1 in 4A. Great Bend lost by one point in 3 overtimes. McPherson later upended upstart Great Bend by an 18-point margin in the final game of their regional tournament. Powerful McPherson easily won the rest of their games to place first at state.

Individually, Reggie Smith led Great Bend in total points with 336, and also led the team in average points with 16. Paul Margheim was second in total points with 245 and was second in points averaged a game with 12.7. Paul Margheim led the rebounding with 83 offensive rebounds and 135 defensive rebounds while Larry White gathered 64 offensive rebounds and 98 defensive rebounds. Monty Hobbs led the team in assists with 70 and also in steals with 64. Reggie Smith contributed 56 assists and 39 steals to the Panther efforts this year to be second in this respect.

The team finished with 1237 total points for the season which was good for a 58.9 average a game.

The Great Bend junior varsity finished their season with a 10-6 over-all and an 8-4 league record. They bucketed 836 total points for a 52.2 average a game. Hal Lawson led individual scoring with 162 points and a 10.1 average. Willis Thompson paced the team in rebounding as he grabbed a total of 113.

The sophomore squad racked up a winning season by compiling a 10-4 over-all record. They scored 840 total points for a 60 point average a game.

Jack Buehler led their scoring with 103 points followed closely by Jeff Riegal with 101 points.

Individuals outstanding this season.

The 1972-73 Panther wrestling season began with ideas of repeating their WCKL championship. Great Bend defeated all of their dual meet opponents except Pratt and Garden City. The Panthers tied the Pratt Greenbacks and suffered their only defeat of the season to Garden City. They finished with a 4-1-1 league record and settled for second place in the WCKL. Individually, Jones Cavanaugh and Steve Hilton captured league championships. In seasonal tournament action, Great Bend finished second at the Hays Tournament by gathering 2 individual firsts, 4 individual seconds, and 5 individual thirds. The Panthers received fifth place at the Garden City Tournament with 2 individual firsts, 1 second, 1 third, and 1 fourth.

At the state district tournament, the Panthers earned first place and qualified 11 out of 12 of the wrestlers for the regional tournament to set a new school record. Six of the wrestlers won first places while the other five qualifiers placed second. In the state regional tournament, the Panther wrestlers placed fourth as they set another school record by qualifying five for state competition. Those five were Steve Hilton, first place in the 185 pound weight class, David Neideree, second in the 167 pound weight class, Roger Hostetler, fourth in the 138 pound weight class, Ron Laudick, fourth in the 145 pound weight class, and Galen Wiles in the heavyweight division.

At the state wrestling tournament, Steve Hilton won the state championship in the 185 pound weight class while Roger Hostetler captured fourth place in the 138 pound weight class. This marked the first time in GBHS history that two wrestlers placed in the state competition and also the second consecutive year that at least one Great Bend wrestler captured first place.

Nineteen young men and women were chosen by Coach Ed Johnson for Great Bends second year of gymnastics competition.

The girls' gymnastics team compiled a 10-0 dual meet record for the second straight year. They also finished third in the Great Bend Invitational with 80.71 points, second in the Halstead Invitational with 53.45 points, and first at both the Ulysses Invitational and the Dodge City Invitational by acquiring 66.33 and 59.08 points respectively.

The Great Bend Boys' gymnastics team recorded 0-3 for dual meets. The male gymnasts also placed fourth in the Ulysses Invitational, they finished tenth at the Medicine Lodge Invitational, and acquired sixth place at both THE Dodge City Invitational and the Nickerson Invitational.

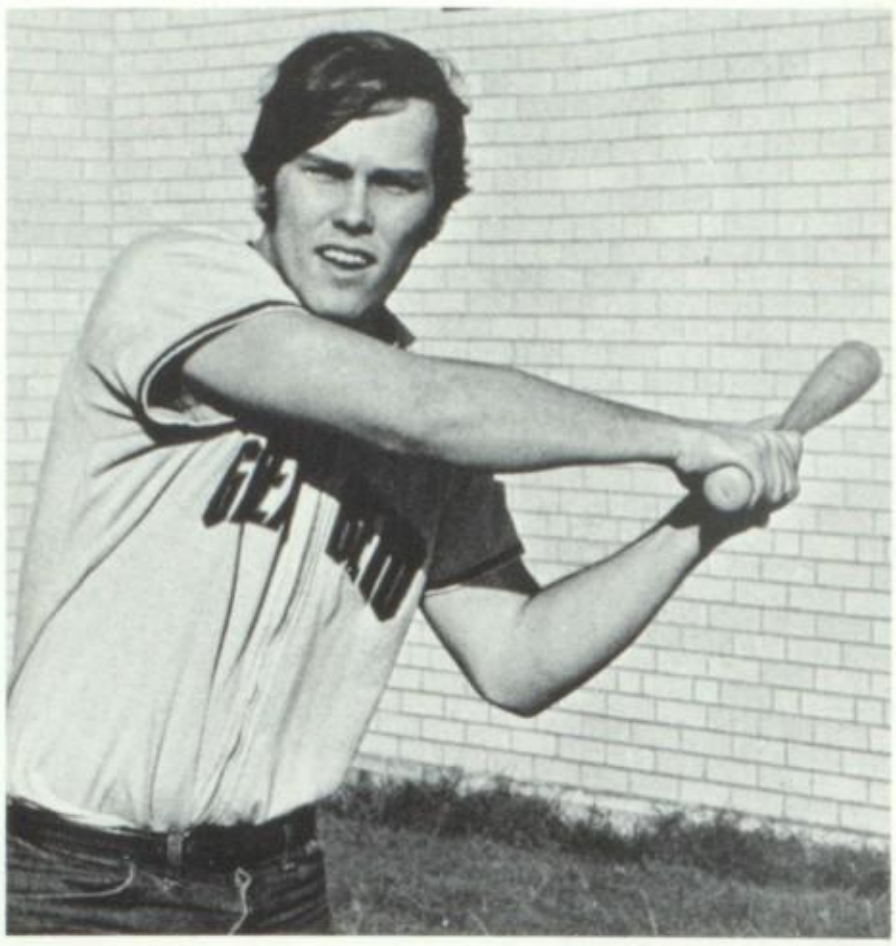
Coaches Fahring and Orth discuss the prospects for this year.



A disappointment to first year head coach Al Fahring was the loss of two year letterman Scott Holt who moved.

Al Fahring is new baseball coach

The 1973 GBHS baseball team took the field this season under a new head coach. Al Burns, head baseball coach for many years at Great Bend, retired after the 1972 season when he got his 200th victory of his baseball coaching career here. Taking Mr. Burns' place was Al Fahring, with Jim Orth as his assistant.

Anticipating the help of ten returning lettermen, this years team worked hard to improve on last year's 6-8 record. With some of last year's fine pitching staff and several capable hitters as a factor, the team had a good chance of having a successful season. The squad was well balanced as the rest of the lettermen were scattered among the infield and outfield positions, with a good share of depth in these positions.

The team, which made a strong showing in tournament play in 1972, expected an even better account this year because of an addition of the experience of the B-team players.

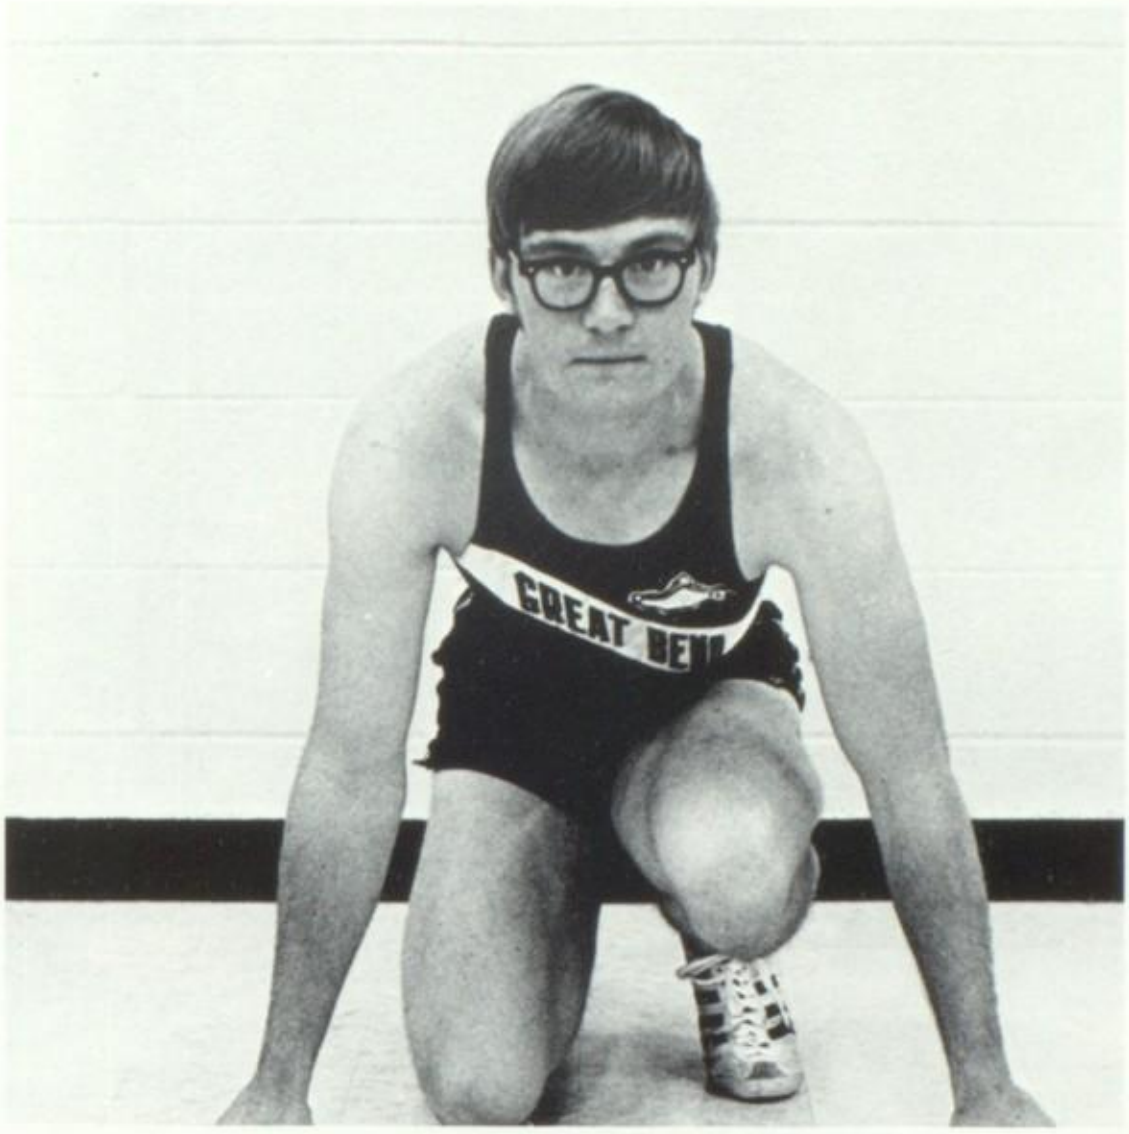
New coach for track

Under the direction of new head coach John Cochran and assistant coach Harry Kline, the defending state track champions set their sights high for this year's season.

The track squad, boasting ten returning lettermen, was expected to be strong in relays again this year and in field events, strengthened by four of the ten lettermen. Along with the relays and field events, good performances were expected of the Panther sprinters.

Head coach Cochran thought the outlook for 1973 was good and a WCKL championship was well within the reach of the thinclads, as was a recurrence of a state championship.



Senior sprinter Larry Beydler sets his hands and demonstrates the stance he uses in the 100 and 200 yard dashes.

WELCOME TO CLUBS, HONORS ORGANIZATIONS

Debate strengthens oratorical ability

Research, oratorical skills and ambition were combined by the 1972-73 Panther Debate Squad to earn a record number of thirty Debate trophies by the end of the season.

Debate is a highly competitive activity, not only between schools but also among squad members. Classes began the year large and then gradually diminished to the individuals with the interest, desire and time it takes to compose a winning squad.

Students who participate in the Debate program strive to gain fluency and poise in speaking, analytical ability and knowledge of the year's resolution. This year's resolution was "Resolved: that the financial support for all public elementary and secondary education in the United States should be provided exclusively by the federal government." Debaters found that they needed extensive knowledge of the current educational system and its problems and its economics.

Competing in tournaments at schools in Kansas City, Wichita, Emporia, Topeka, Salina and other area towns, the squad traveled an approximate total of 10,000 miles and attended 34 tournaments. They also held their own Invitational Debate Tournament in November.

Schools with a Debate program are eligible to belong to the National Forensic League. The Great Bend Forensic Chapter was awarded as one of the ten outstanding chapters of the year early in the season. Mr. Bruno Jacobs, founder of NFL, presented the award at an assembly to NFL President Darlene Daubert.

For experience at Debate tourneys and in other areas of speech, members earn NFL points toward different ranks. Those who had earned the highest rank, the Degree of Excellence, symbolized by a Double Ruby, were Jones Cavanaugh, Darlene Daubert, Nate Fors, Stephanee Goodwin, Jeanne Karst, Jill Miller, Christy Solso, Sally Streck, Shelley Turner and Terry Weiser.

The 1972-73 Great Bend High School Panther Debate Squad consisted of twenty experienced and thirty-one novice debaters. They traveled to thirty-four invitational debate tournaments during the season.

Debate Coach Richard Young relaxes behind his desk after school as students wander in and out. This year Mr. Young was awarded the NFL Double Diamond for coaching and had a Debate Manual for coaches published.

Debaters Stephanee Goodwin, Brit McPherson, Joe Keenan and Christy Solso take some of the trophies won during the season to the debate room. The squad brought back a total of thirty trophies.

Competitive Speech Develops Talents

With the beginning of the second semester, the members of the 1972-73 Panther Competitive Speech Squad began to select or write, memorize and perfect their individual events in preparation of the approaching speech season.

The Competitive Speech season, which lasts from the last week of January through the last week of March, consists of tournaments in which the squad members perform their individual entries for ratings and rankings. Topeka, Wichita, Emporia and Manhattan were some of the tournament sites which the Panther Speech Squad attended.

An Open House for the public was held in March, so that the parents and other interested people would have a chance to see and appreciate the hard work of the speech squad. Each student performed his event at this time.

Another highlight of the Competitive Speech semester during April and May was Student Congress, which is a mock congress where the participants receive experience on being a member of the legislature.

Closing the year were the annual NFL Spring Fling, a picnic, and the Awards Banquet, where the officers for the coming year were announced and outstanding speech and debate students were recognized.

Behind all the efforts of the Speech students was the dynamic drive of Coach Richard Young. The squad held a general consensus that he was among the best coaches in the state. Giving his students a "shape up or ship out" option, those whom he taught appreciated his sense of humor and, though sometimes bitterly opposing him, deeply respected his demanding nature. This was Mr. Young's last year here as Debate and Speech coach.

Competitive Speech student Janet Goodwin rehearses her musical comedy number.

Senior Nate Fors clowningly attempts to connect the bat with the ball at the annual ball game of the NFL Spring Fling in May, while Senior Keith DeBerry prepares to catch the ball. All of this is seen under the watchful eye of the umpire, Senior Terry Weiser.

Junior Denise Moore, NFL Secretary, spends many hours graphing points on the membership chart.

Junior Bill McKown and Sophomore Scott Downing have a heart to heart talk from "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Sophomore Brent Miller portrays a German Nazi in his dramatic interpretation of "Man in a Glass Booth."

Panther Tales staff large, talented, active

PANTHER TALES, the GBHS student newspaper, was put out by a select staff bi-weekly throughout the school year. The regularly scheduled newspaper classes met second and fifth hours, with the advertising staff meeting fourth hour.

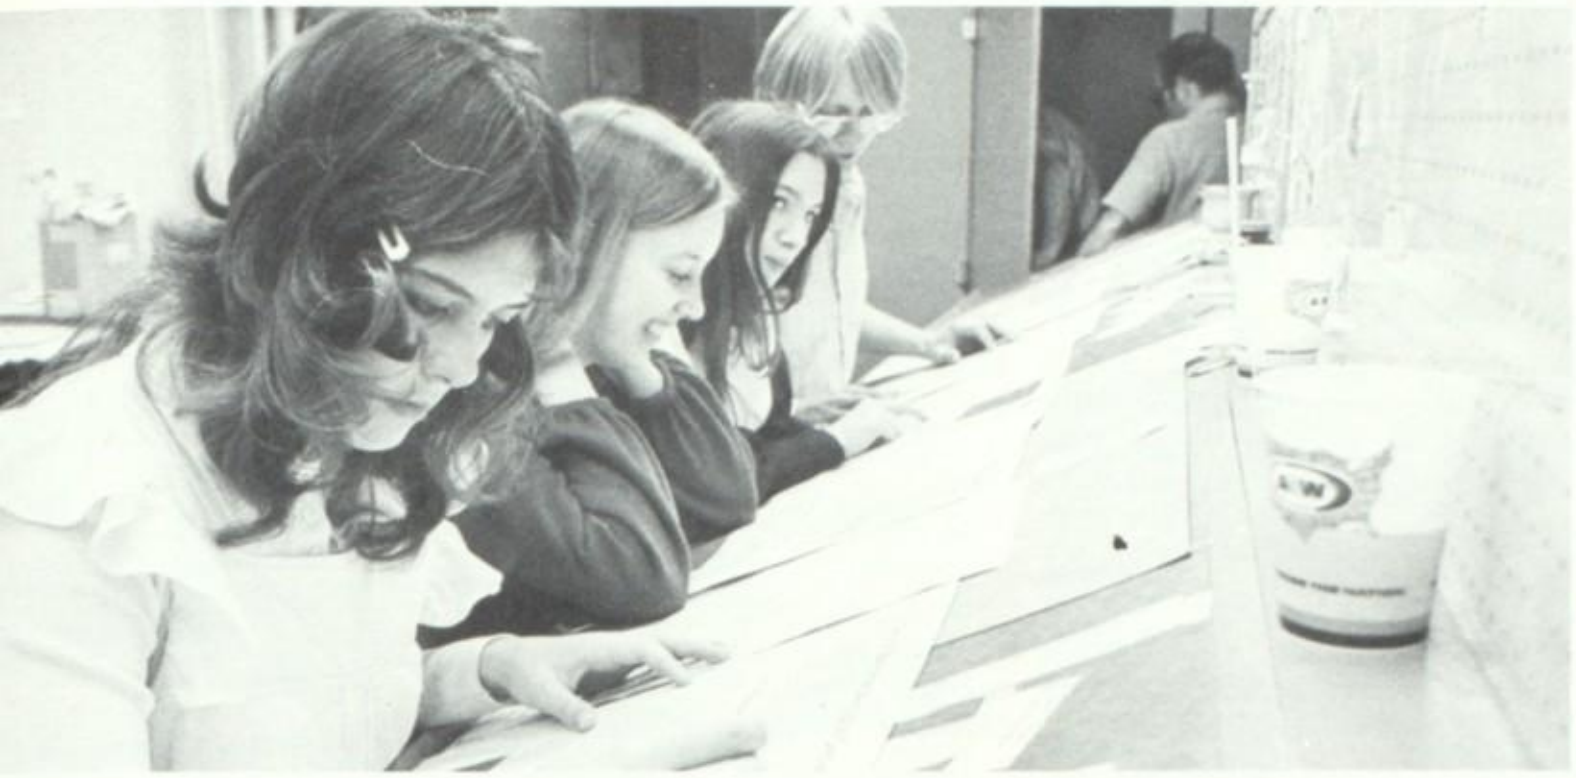
Many staff members had attended various summer workshops and camps throughout the state and brought back with them the incentive for a better publication of the school paper. Among the camps attended was a six-week class on Journalism at Kansas University in Lawrence. Editors Steve Felkel and Chuck Smith represented PANTHER TALES. Also at KU was a week-long session, attended by Jim Bates, Greg Felke, and Gary Schwilling.

Although PANTHER TALES averaged twelve pages an issue, a highlight of the year was an October issue, containing 20 pages. It was dedicated to retiring Superintendent D. V. Schwartz. 3,000 copies of the cover page, which contained a tribute to Mr. Schwartz and information about the half-time program were distributed at a football game also dedicated to him.

Mr. John Mohn, journalism instructor, felt that this year's staff was highly ambitious, very talented and one of the best he had ever taught and worked with. He hoped the paper would receive the honor of an All-American rating this year.

Editor-in-Chief Steve Felkel, photographer and editor Chuck Smith and editorial editor Jim Bates debate on how they can steal an exchange newspaper's ideas, for their November 10th issue.

Staff members, Kathy Rush, Karla Schumacher, Barbara Glover, Nancy Dreiling, Tim Duncan, Steve Bell, Nate Fors, Scott Herren, and Bob Ritterhouse, all try to get into the act of editing. All seemed capable of being good editors.



Kim Sullivan, assistant editor, leads the paste up crew of Jan Hilgendorf; Pam Basgall, and Gary Schwilling in preparation for the upcoming issue of Panther Tales.

(LEFT) Lynn Adams, Evan Keenan, and Terry Herren sign out to sell ads during fourth hour. Evan was the school's top ads salesman of the past four years.

(UPPER) Sue Zelenka, business manager, trys to keep track of all money brought in by Panther Tales and ads staff.

Small staff creates novel yearbook

After attending a summer yearbook camp at Lindsberg, the RHOREA staff was excited and ready for a year of work. Extra days had to be spent meeting deadlines and the fun of dreaming and preparing was replaced by drudgery of doing. The 1972-73 staff was a group who wanted to overachieve but was too disorganized and worried about keeping up their calorie intake instead of keeping up with their work. Meetings were furnished with cookies, pop and candy instead of diligent workers. But the staff used the extra energy from their fourth meal to stay up the late nights and produce a completely new and tradition-breaking yearbook. The cover was changed from the usual red and black to an actual photograph taken by RHOREA photographers. New sections were developed and the use of individual month happenings were printed. In spite of being the smallest staff since 1933 they managed to produce a book of which they are not ashamed.

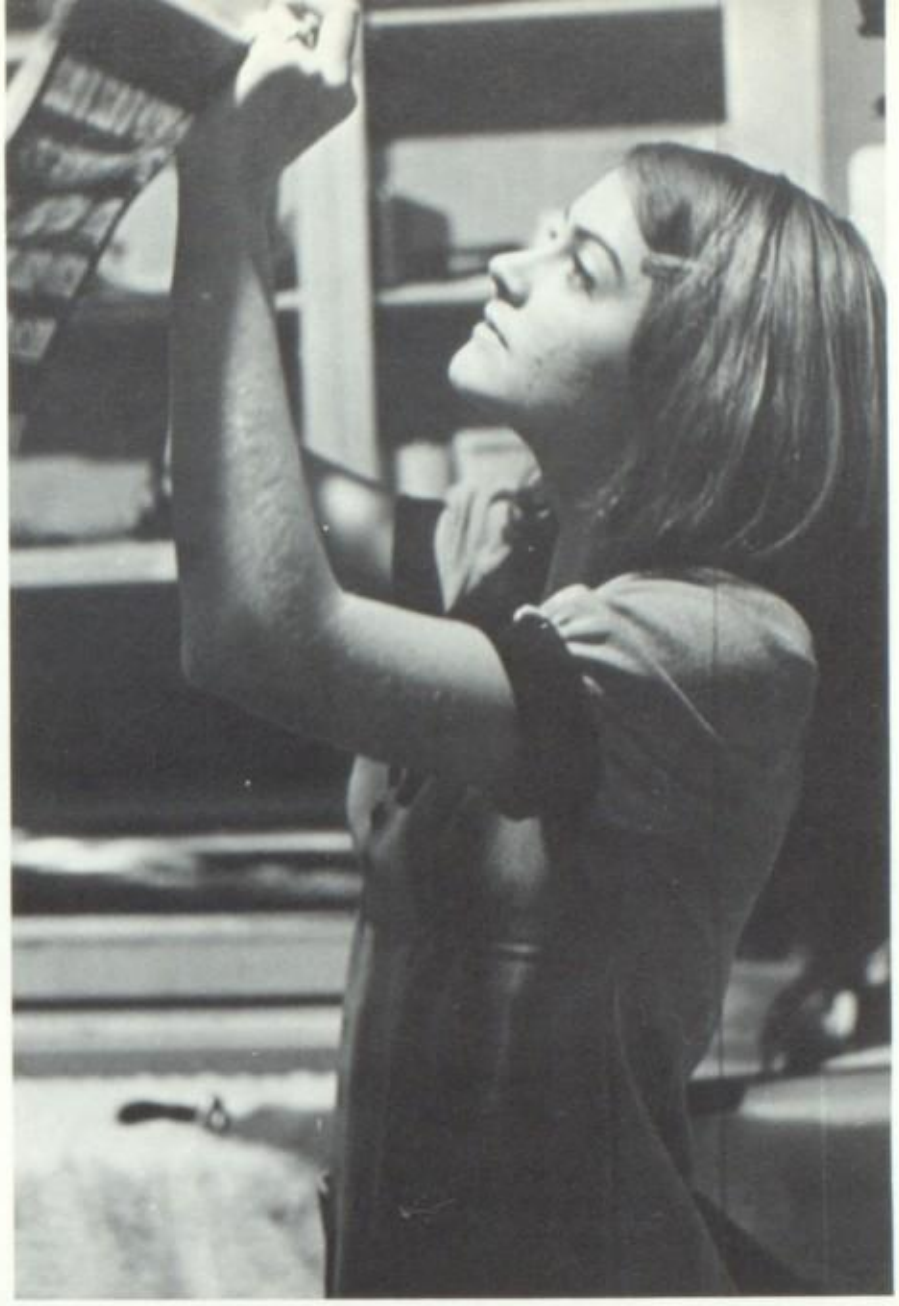
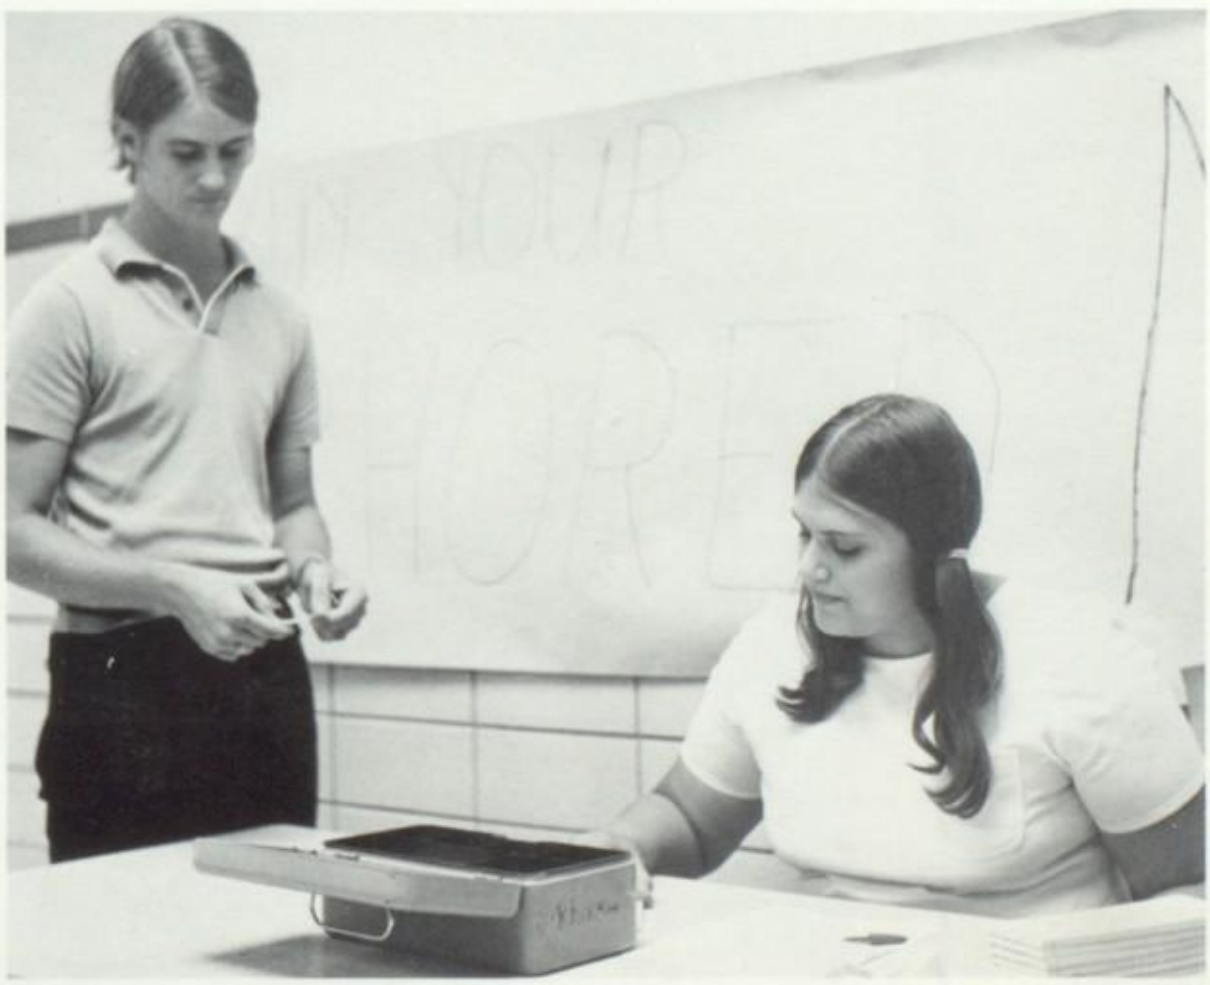
A rare occasion takes place when Scott Holt is found working on Rhorea as Ida Dolezal and Terri Wiesner discuss photos.

Advisor John Mohn, staff members Mike Graf and Patti Henderson and photographer Jeff Shull make a big thing of Lynn Larson paying her usual "bad mouth money."



RHOREA photographer Susan Fischer, who broke the all-male photographer tradition, discovered the only way to withstand pressures of RHOREA deadlines was long hours of diligent labor.



Business manager Karleen Kaufman kicks-off yearbook selling campaign by persuading Jeff Shull to buy the first RHOREA of the year.

Members of the GBHS Marching Band discover that practice pays off as they perform with precision during half time of the Great Bend-Garden City game.

Beat of the band livens half-times

Under the direction of Mr. Joe Boley, the Pep Band and Marching Band, led by Drum Major Marc Webster and the Pantherettes, entertained spectators during half-times at all home football and basketball games.

During the half-time of the Great Bend-Dodge City football game, the band made a special presentation to honor Mr. D.V. Swartz, Superintendent of Schools, who retired after 20 years of service. The band played while performing various drills illustrating events in Mr. Swartz's life.

Concert season began with a rush to prepare for the Winter Concert. The band was featured in a school assembly and also in the Spring Concert. They also took part in the annual Dodge City Music Contest and the third annual Variety Show.

Voices of Choir unite in song

The 1972-73 year was the third year in which the GBHS vocal music students were instructed by Mr. Phil Szajnuk.

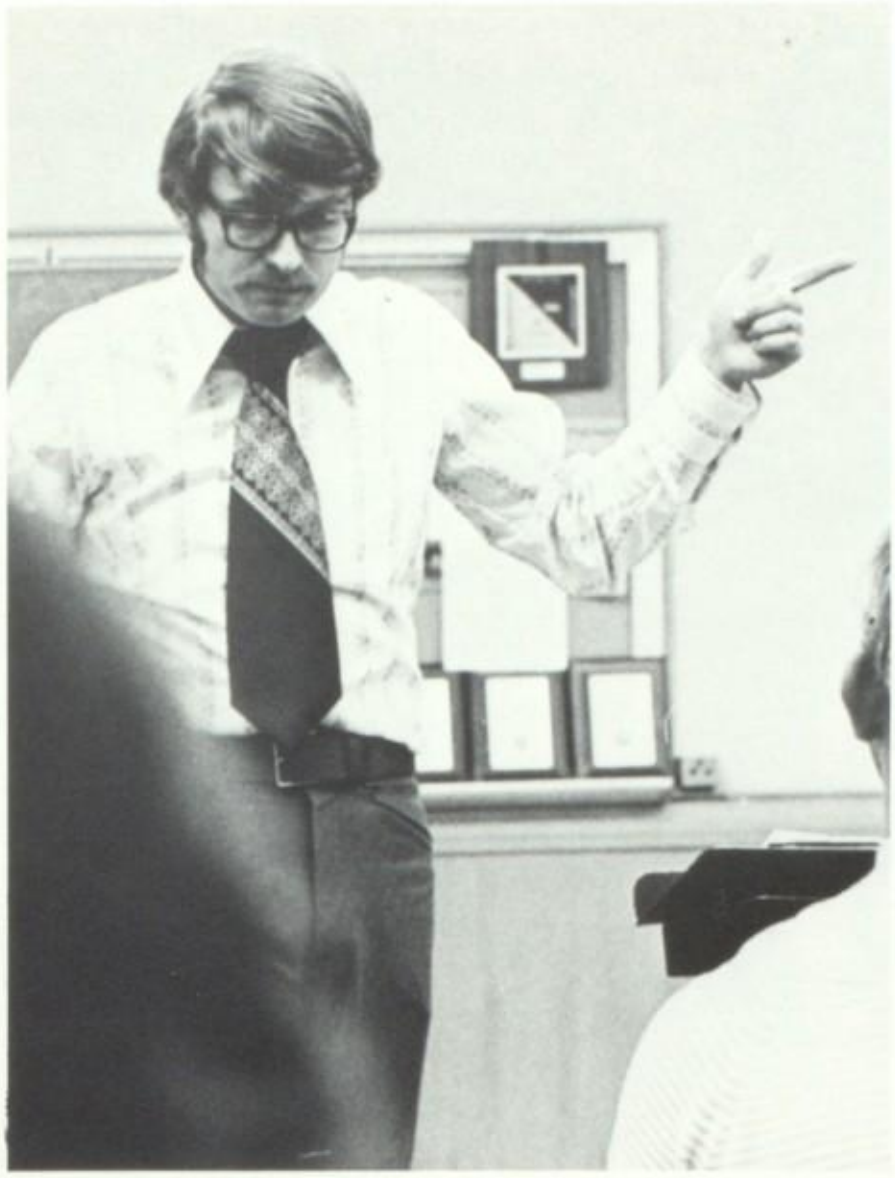
Open for membership by enrollment are the Men's Glee Club and the Girl's Glee Club. Sophomore vocalists form their own mixed choir. Through tryouts held in the spring and fall, students interested are selected for the A Capella Choir.

In addition to attending the State Music Contest and performing in the seasonal concerts, the choirs gave a special Christmas concert. This year they planned a spring college tour and staged the annual Variety Show.

Within the A Cappella Choir there is still a more select group, the Madrigal-Pops Choir, consisting of about 20 members. During the year they attended concerts hearing groups like themselves, gave public performances, and attended the State Music Contest.

A group of students under the direction of Mr. Szajnuk were invited to take part in a summer European concert arranged by Voyageurs International. To help ease the cost of such a trip, the group planned money-making projects during the year. Among the projects were a chili supper and a garage sale in the spring.

The Madrigal-Pops Choir prepares for an upcoming concert.



Concentration, dedication and determination are distinguishing characteristics of vocal music instructor Phil Szajnuck.

Men's Glee, which is open to all GBHS males wishing to sing, rehearses one of its numbers for the yearly Fall Concert.

Enthusiasm is the KEY word

Varsity cheerleaders Kim Carpenter, Lana Schamaun, Darlene Daubert, Diana Adams, Desa Nicholson, and Jane Mermis play a major role in the school's enthusiasm and spirit. (RIGHT) Mascot Lois Swartz, a senior who moved here from Wichita last summer, shows that someone new can participate in supporting the school.

This year's 330-member-strong Pep Club leaves a record of many "firsts." On the first day of school the club hosted D-Day, an afternoon field day to initiate new sophomore members and encourage others to join.

Parents of team members were honored by Pep Club during half-times of special football and basketball games.

Haul Your Man Week was initiated to replace the Corrigan Week of years past. Basic activities centered around the girls switching places with the boys, carrying books, arranging dates, and footing the bill. A highlight of the week was a dance.

Other activities included poster parties, cheering at games, pep assemblies, and fund raising projects.

Due to the spirit of its members, Pep Club achieved its goals: enthusiasm, participation, and involvement.

B team cheerleaders Carla Bell, Glenna Harmony, Bev Brown, Becky Peters, Dara Bunselmeyer, Joletta Larson, Cheryl Crissman and Kathy Evers find that being a cheerleader has a lot of work along with the joy of it.

FTA builds for the future

Future Teachers of America, an organization for students interested in teaching, began the year with 8 students devoting their second hour time to teaching music to the students at St. Rose. The senior members of FTA taught a day of school in the elementary and Junior High schools throughout Great Bend. Scholarships of $300 to $500 were given to members of the club wishing to advance in the field of teaching. Sponsors for the 72-73 school year were Mrs. Josephine Trowbridge and Mrs. Barbara Smith.

Cheryl Linch makes use of her teaching ability for classes at St. Rose as part of an FTA tutoring program.

Candy Jennings explains the importance of rhythm in music to third graders at St. Rose.

FTA started the year out ahead with well-rounded officers Jon Holmes, Kathy McLaughlin, Kristi Parry, and Rhonda Schenk.

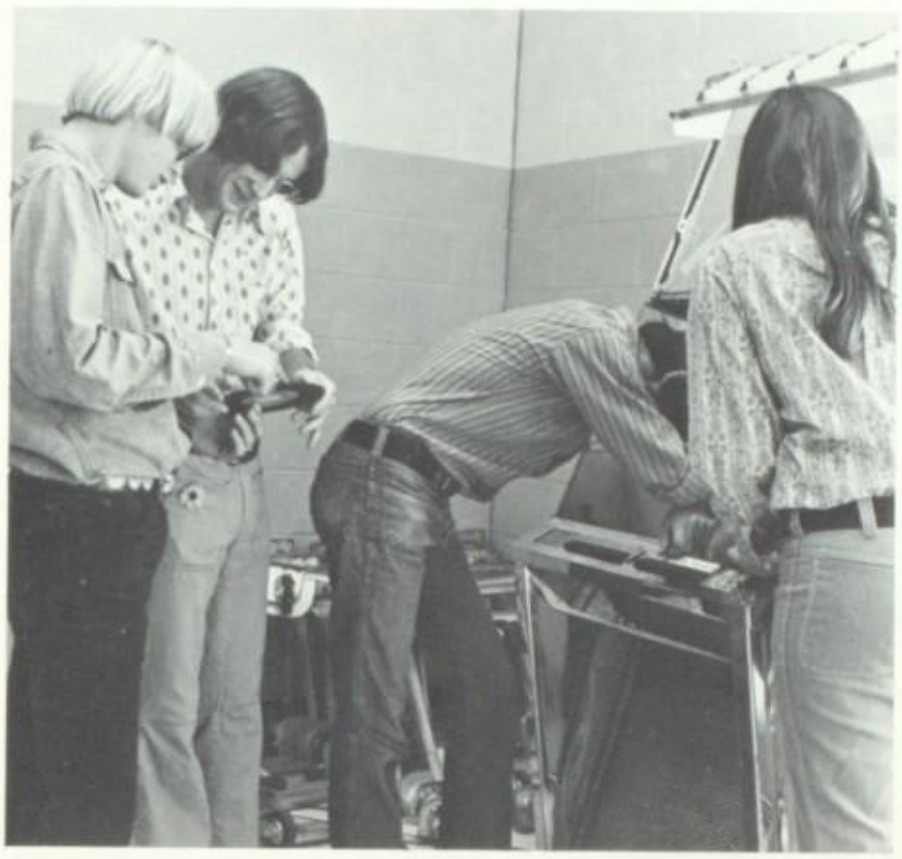
Stuco plans money-raising projects



Hal Meltzer and Debbie Bender change records in the cafeteria jukebox with help from Nate Fors and Keith DeBerry.

Student Council spent most of the year raising money. Projects included selling sweatshirts, a walk for CROP, and a car bash. Plans made for paving the parking lot were dropped due to costs. Stuco also maintained the seed machine and cafeteria jukebox.

Student Council officers and committee chairmen were Todd Miller, Debbie Bender, Chris Degner, Jones Cavanaugh, Bill McKown, Kristi Parry, Mary Law and Nate Fors compose the important Stuco board.

OE, DE prepare for jobs tomorrow

Distributive Education and Office Education are part of a nationwide program through which students can receive on-the-job training in addition to classroom instruction. The student who participates in the DE or OE program goes to classes in the morning, and then works in a business which will enrich his skills. Along with gaining skills and knowledge necessary for their occupations, they are paid a regular salary.

According to the DE instructor, Mr. Mark West, "This year proves to be one of the better years of Distributive Education."

Office Education, on the other hand, needs to be larger next year to stay in existence. Only two students, Seniors Janice Hejny and Cheri Schartz, were enrolled in this year's class. A new policy of requiring a B average or better in typing for OE students will go into effect next year, since much of the office work requires typing skills. Shorthand, business law, bookkeeping, and other business courses are a valuable asset to OE students, but are not mandatory.

This year's Office Education instructor was Mrs. Phyllis Harrison.

Juniors who intend to enroll in DE or OE in their Senior year in future classes will be screened by a board of teachers.

The only two students on O.E., Janis Hejny and Cheri Schartz, make use of their school time typing material for employers.

Mr. West gets the attention of his 1st hour class to outline plans for the D.E. selling campaign of picture cubes and calendar towels. These items are being sold as one of the many projects to raise money for their organization, DECA.

FFA strives for best year ever

FFA kept up their club enthusiasm this year by taking part in many projects, old and new. FFA placed first in state competition for their Barton County Crops booth at the Kansas State Fair and participated in other contests, fairing well.

November marked the month of the Greenhand and Chapter Farmer initiation where the first year FFA members are initiated and second year members are honored. Members also took part in such activities as the wheat variety test plots and hybrid corn test plots. Major money-making affairs were selling popcorn at home athletic events and selling Christmas candles. Supporting a needy family by giving food and toy baskets during the holidays also shows this Club's enthusiasm.

The new event for the year was the FFA-FHA joint weiner roast which had a good turnout and may become an annual picnic. Completing the year was the parent and member awards banquet.

FFA board members Jeff Weese, Charles Sharp, Dennis Neeland, Louie Vessart and Steve Turley get high with a little help from sponsor, Mr. Jerry Morgenstern.

Kayette board members and officers listen to President Jeanne Karst explain the roll of Kayettes.

Kayettes enjoy year of action

One of the major organizations of our school is the Kansas Association for Youth, better known as Kayettes. With over 300 members, it is one of GBHS's hardest working and most active clubs. From the beginning, the members set higher goals, planned more activities and worked harder to make this year a great Kayette year. The sale of holly and other greenery, a traditional Kayette fund-raising activity, proved the members were willing to work. Not too long after the holly sales, the Kayettes were out collecting money for the "Meals for Millions" foundation. This money goes to helping starving people all over the world. As the year progressed, girls were honored as Kayette of the Month. Other activities included choosing a Kayette Sweetheart, Holly Ball and the annual Pops-Are-Tops Banquet.

Sponsor Mrs. Scheuerman talks over with Denise Brack the prices and facts of selling holly.

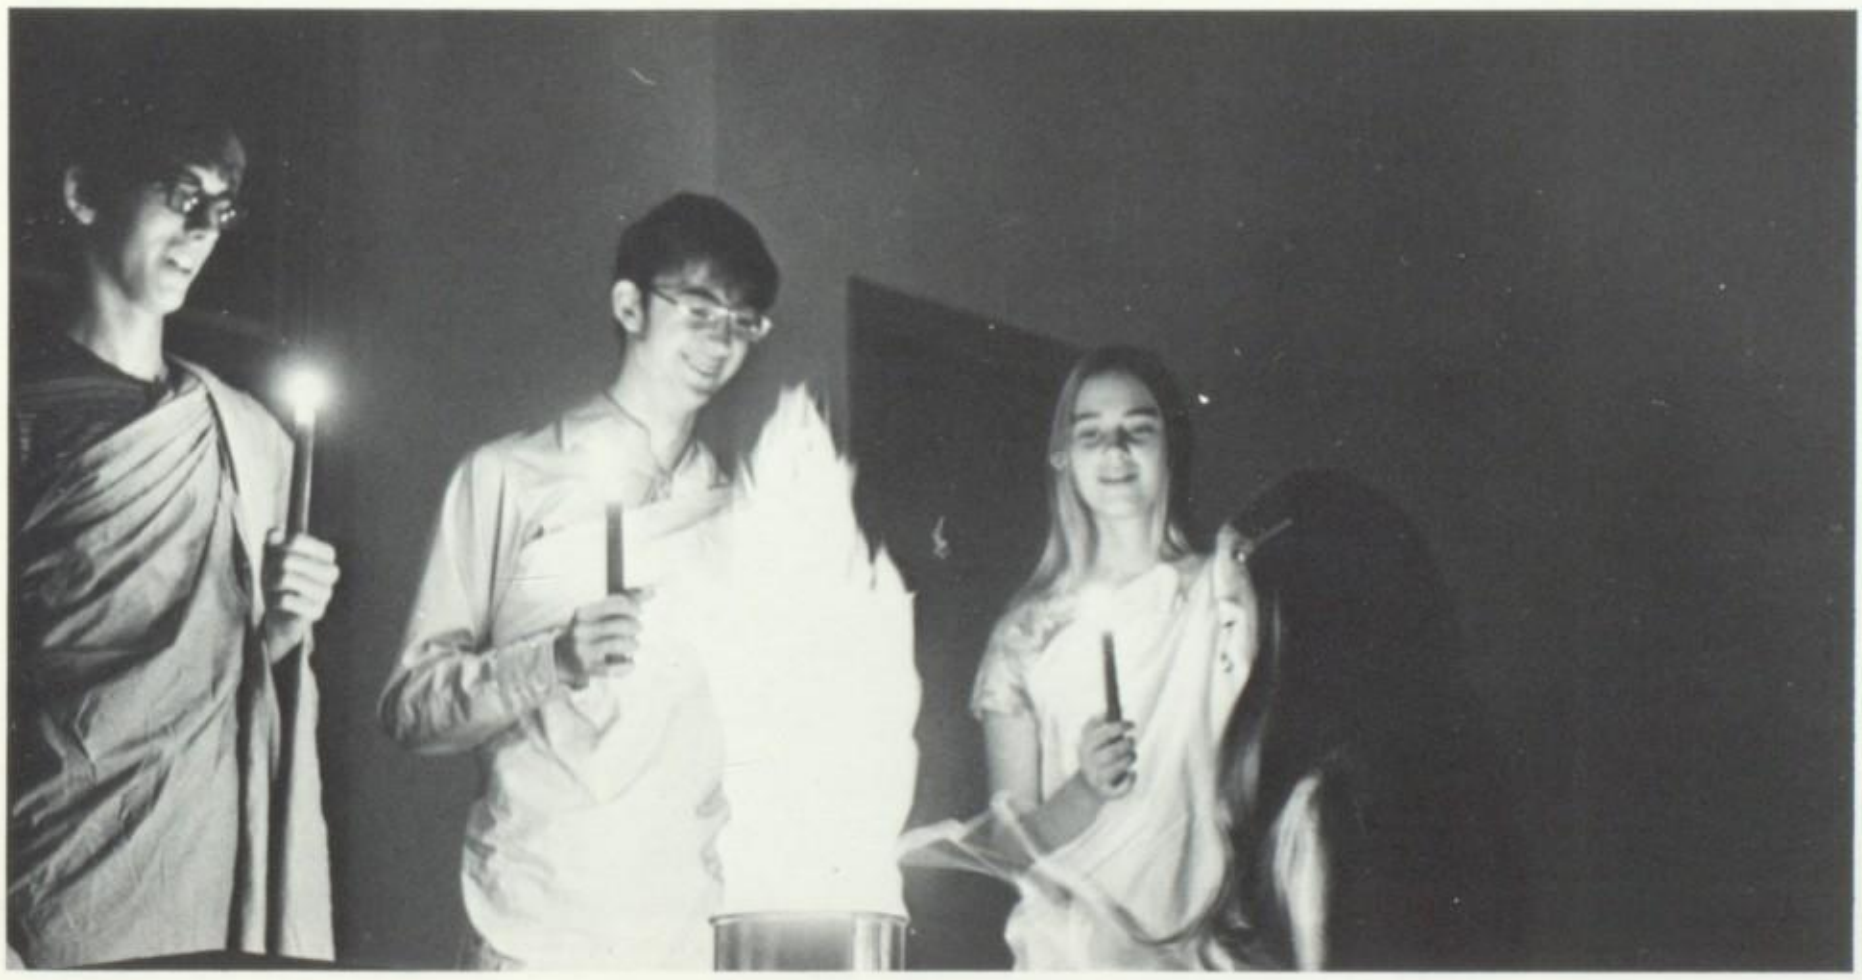
JCL members look upon ancient times

Junior Classical League was founded to promote the understanding and appreciation of the cultures of ancient Greece and Rome. JCL is noted as being the oldest and only national language club in the high school.

One of the more important events of the year was the initiation of new club members in the fall. During December the club celebrated Saturnalia, a Roman holiday. The annual Roman banquet was held in spring, highlighted by the members dressing in Roman fashion and eating in Roman Manner.

Officers for JCL are Kevin Keating, president; Jeff Titus, vice-president; Loretta Peschka, secretary; Lori Brack, treasurer; Jim Bates, program chairman; and Patricia Margheim, historian.

Mrs. Caraway, Latin instructor, served throughout the year as the sole sponsor of JCL.



Officers Kevin Keating, Jeff Titus and Loretta Peschka prepare to perform the elaborate ritual of initiation for Nancy Baxter.

FHA performs various tasks

For the first time, FHA combined forces with FFA to hold a weiner roast at Fort Zarah Park. Plans to take retarded children trick-or-treating were cancelled because of bad weather. A Christmas party for underprivileged children was held in December, and the annual formal Snowball tool plane in February. In Spring FHA took a trip to Topeka for the State Meeting.

Sponsor Mrs. Carter, helps through FHA projects.

FHA girls board the bus for the trip to the fall district meeting which was held in Sterling Kans.

French Club works to learn customs

French Club is an organization which centers around activities that help its members learn about the culture and customs of the French people. The club began the 1972-73 year with the annual picnic, changing tradition slightly by the addition of the other school language clubs.

Other events included a lecture on French foods, hearing speakers tell about France, singing and playing French Scrabble. Christmas highlights included a party and sending Santa-grams — direct, personal telegrams from Santa. This idea originated from last year's Valograms, messages delivered on Valentine's Day. Because of their success they were sold again. French Club ended its year with a "School's Out" party.

After listening to a guest speaker, planning upcoming activities, and just plain working, French Club members and sponsor Mrs. Marshall enjoy using the extra minutes at a meeting to gather around a piano and sing — one of the club pastimes.

Fiesta is fun in Spanish

Spanish Club members broadened their interests in the Spanish language and customs by attending special programs throughout the school year.

Marian Bianchino, president, worked hard with the help of an enthusiastic board to produce an interesting schedule of events. Mrs. Helen Reha and Mrs. Kay Duncan, sponsors, were of great help throughout the year.

Highlights of the year included holding bake sales to raise money for a Spanish Cultural trip, a combined language club picnic for two AFS students, a Christmas Fiesta and a Mardi Gras celebration.

Serving as officers for the newly-formed FCA are Scott Holt, Co Captain; Todd Miller, Captain; Ron Peters, Treasurer; and Allan Alford, Secretary.

FCA opens in GBHS

Started for the first time at GBHS last year, the fellowship of Christian Athletes has one of the largest chapters in this area of Kansas. FCA members meet to express devotion to Christ, the most important function of the club.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes has already sent 13 members to a summer conference at Ft. Collins, Colorado, made several hundred dollars with money-making projects and has grown into a large group for only being a first year organization.

The summer conference, which was held from August sixth through the eleventh, was a very rewarding experience for those who attended. Members from all over the country met and participated together in church services and devotions and outdoor activities.

"I left for camp with 13 boys and returned home with 13 young men," said Coach Sherm Price, who accompanied them.

Money-making was an important factor in enabling FCA to attend the summer conference. The most important fund raising project was going from house to house and asking for jobs raking leaves. The results of their efforts totaled 130 dollars. Prominent businesses of Great Bend also donated to the club.

Leaving for FCA camp in August are: FIRST ROW, Coach Sherm Price, Jim Williams, Terry Raymer, Greg Breeden, Jeff Goad, Todd Miller, and Mark Yahne. SECOND ROW, Tom Burke, Dave Banks, Brad Woody, Bob Hiss, James Emerson, Ron Peters, and Scott Holt.

She Sharks continue traditions.

She Sharks, a group of girls who enjoy swimming, started practice almost immediately after their November 6th and 7th tryouts. All members and sponsor, Mrs. Nancy Carleton, devoted many hours of rigid training to insure the success of the syncronized swimming show held April 7th and 8th.

Drama and theatre interest Thespians

The International Thespians is a National Honor Society whose membership is limited to those students with acting experience. The members hear reports on the phases of drama, listen to guest speakers, visit dramatic productions at area schools and colleges and present a production of their own. The club is sponsored by Mr. Emerson MacDonald.

Taking time out from the usual business meeting, Thespian officers turn all their attention to the important upcoming initiation.

Mr. MacDonald, Thespian sponsor, helps the club work on "The Midgets," a play by Seniors Jim Bates and Greg Felke.

New members who had earned the needed hours to join the honorary society were welcomed into the club at an initiation ceremony held in December. The members collected the hours by reviewing plays, participating in the preparation and production of a play, attending plays at area schools and colleges, listening to guest speakers, and preparing reports on the many areas of drama.

Hey people, can't you hear,

The 1972 Football Homecoming was highlighted as Darlene Daubert, escorted by Ed Condit, was crowned queen. Michele Kerns was the flower girl and Shane Kern, the crown bearer.

Nominated by the football players from a select list of Pep Club girls, the queen was chosen by an all-school vote and crowned before the homecoming game. Their escorts, who served as co-captains for the game, were selected by the football players as the outstanding players on the team. The Panther football squad proved the homecoming theme, "Hey People, Can't You Hear, '72 is the Panther Year," by defeating Garden City 14-12. The festivities ended with a dance in the gym, the music provided by "Kansas."

Senior attendent Bonnie Laughlin and escort Todd Miller.

The Great Bend-Hays game, in which Great Bend beat Hays, was highlighted by the crowning of Mary Lou Polzin, escorted by Evan Keenan, as the 1973 Basketball Homecoming Queen. The two senior attendents were Lynn Larson, escorted by Brad Mohr, and Bonnie Laughlin, escorted by Todd Miller. Lottie Hitz, escorted by Hal Lawson, and Desa Nicholson, escorted by Tom Brown, represented the juniors. Bev Brown, escorted by Mike Cain (not pictured), and Denise Brack, escorted by Kim Biggs, were sophomore attendants.

For the first time ever, both basketball players and wrestlers choose the queen nominees and attendents from a select list of Pep Club girls. They were then introduced at an all-school assembly and voted upon. A night-crowning, between the B-team and varsity game, was once again revived. As Homecoming Queen, Mary Lou reigned over both the game and the dance which followed.

Seniors nominated one senior boy and one senior girl whom they felt were most deserving of Rhorea King and Queen. Then an all school vote was taken on the top 18 to determine the 10 finalists. The top five girls and top five boys were paired according to the number of votes they received. The winners became King and Queen, gaining the right to reign at the Junior-Senior Prom.

Little things may change like style of clothes or length of eyelashes but people stay pretty much the same underneath.

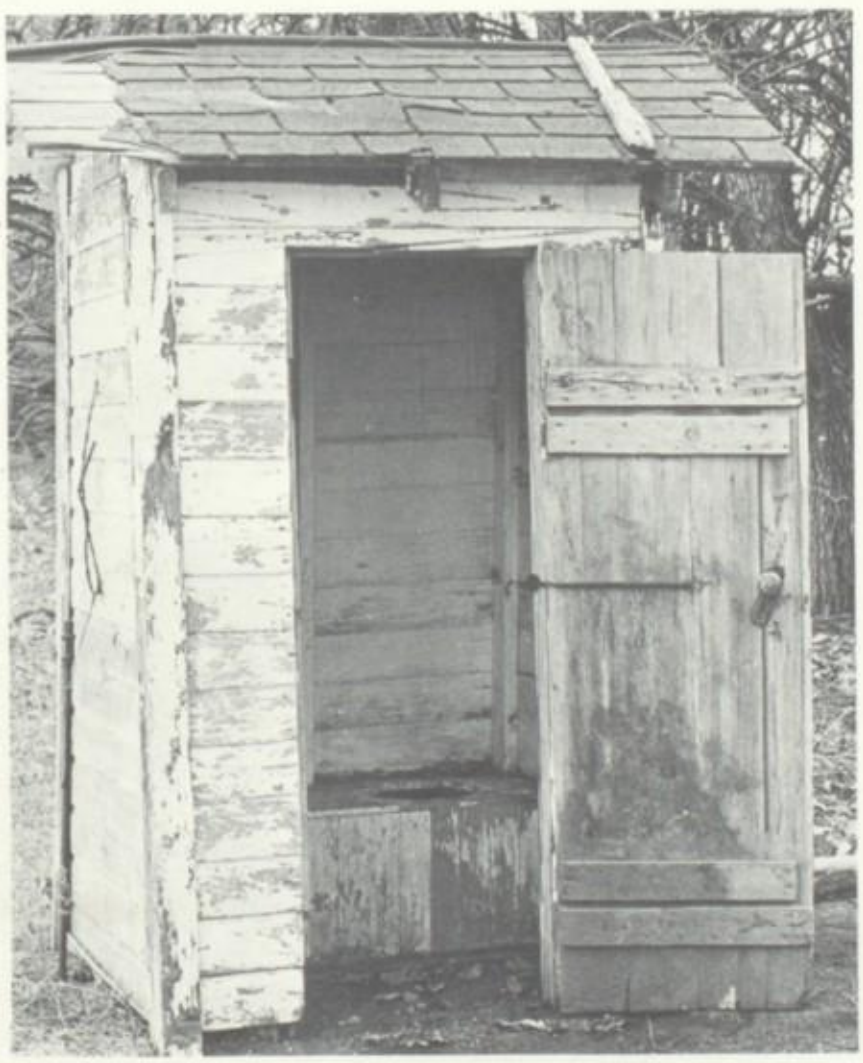
. . . so many things, so many thoughts . . .

People . . . that's what makes a high school . . .

September's thoughts passed quickly by.

Did you ever stop long enough to think what you were doing?

. . . I just can't picture any of us getting old.



1972-73 . . . Was it a good year? You have to answer that question for yourself. But consider this: You are what you are because of your past. If you are unhappy with yesterday, you are probably unhappy with today. And you stand a good chance of being unhappy tomorrow.

Although we can't be sure of our future, our past is a part of us and will stay with us forever. So make the best of it . . . take these your memories . . . examine them . . . savor them . . . and say that it was good.
